THE DIKE FAMILY.

DIKE FAMILY.

1. Anthony Dike

Born in England and came to Plymouth in the ship "Ann" in 1623. He took a share in the division of land in Plymouth in 1624, but before 1627 he left Plymouth and joined Roger Conant in the Massachusetts Bay Colony. He settled in Salem, Mass. where he had a grant of land in 1636. About 1630 he became associated with Roger Conant, Peter Palfrey and Francis Johnson in a partnership for the purpose of traffic in furs gathered by Indians in Maine. They also carried on quite a business in fish and fish oil, and possibly in corn from Virginia.

Anthony Dike was a mariner and ship-master and had come into possession of a vessel which stood the company in good stead. They had a truck house or fur trading station at Blue Point, Maine, near Saco, in a harbor between what is now Portland and Prout's Neck near Portland.

It is not improbable that the trade in which he was engaged extended from the shores of Maine to the Connecticut River. In 1632 he was captured by the pirate Dixie Bull off Pemaquid. Bull commanded Anthony to pilot him to Virginia, which would imply that Dike was familiar with the coast to Virginia, which is very probable, for the trade of the company might easily have taken him to Virginia and the West Indies. Anthony refused and in some way escaped from Bull.

Anthony Dike was a respected and esteemed citizen of the colony as is shown by the fact that he was sent to the Connecticut Colony with important messages by Governor Winthrop. The partnership in which Dike was engaged sold out to Richard Foxwell after three years but Dike seems to have continued in the business. He had a cargo of furs from Maine when he was wrecked on Cape Cod in the storm of December 15, 1633, in a bark of thirty tons.

Captain Anthony Dike died a young man, probably about thirty five years of age. Enough is known of him, however, to establish his right to an honorable place in the colony. He married Tabitha, last name not known, probably about 1630. She married (2) Nathaniel Pickman. She died September 10, 1663.

It has been hard to be certain of Timothy's service--as another Timothy from Massachusetts, served in the same Regiment. However, these facts above have been verified.

A SKETCH OF THE FAMILY OF
ABRAHAM HENDRICHS OF LISCOMB VALLEY

THE HENDRICKS FAMILY.

HENDRICKS FAMILY RECORD.

First generation.

Abraham Hendricks was born in the year 1780. We have no knowledge of his parents nor of the place of his birth. He was married to Ann Jameson (Jamison or Jamieson) of whose parents or place of abode I am also ignorant. However it is known that Ann Jameson was by birth a gentlewoman of Scotch ancestry. She had one brother, William Jameson, who died unmarried, & one sister; the two sisters marrying brothers.

It is also known that the Hendricks family were of Huguenot descent & came from Holland to America. Also that Grandfather Abraham Hendricks, had three brothers, one migrated to Alabama, and one to Kentucky--no further record.

Abraham & Ann Jameson Hendricks came to Ligonier Valley, Pa. some time previous to November 12, 1782, for my father, their son, William, was born there at Palmer's Fort on that date. Grandfather Hendricks' bible, containing his family record, was burned about 1885 and we have no notes from it.

Abraham Hendricks died in Ligonier Valley, June 2, 1849, age sixty-nine years. Ann Jameson died at the same place, Jan. 26, 1855, age eighty-one years.

(note from family bible at V.R.B. "Abraham Hendricks born Nov. 4, 1780. Ann Jamieson, born Nov. 4, 1782.")

There are no tombstones marking any graves of that early period to be found now in the old churchyard. If there ever were any, the obliterating finger of time has so defaced or hidden them that there is no relic now recognizable. The dates & places noted here are obtained from some notes left by my father & they are very meagre.

Abraham & his brother, William, married sisters & were among the earliest settlers of Ligonier Valley. They, with other settlers, lived in Palmer's Fort to protect them from the attacks of Indians. The Indians were in the employ of the British & had massacred the settlers of Ligonier Valley on the 10 day of July, 1763, only a short distance from this beautiful valley of Ligonier. The settlers lived in the fort, keeping their stock & implements of husbandry carefully concealed there, only taking them out for use in the field to give water to their stock. They attended their stock in the adjacent country during the day. All persons repairing to the entrance of the fort at sundown; at which time the gates were fastened for the night & not opened again until sunrise.

They remained in the fort until the British evacuated the country & returned to their homes. The fort was not opened again until the gates were fastened for the night & not opened again until sunrise.

to resisting any predatory attacks from Indians. It stands on Hendricks Creek & is built of the creek limestone, with walls some two feet thick, having a door & two windows below, with windows above them on the sides. The windows have heavy shutters & the door is of heavy oak with hinges reaching across to strengthen them. There are no openings in either end of the house although there are caps & sills set in the wall. In the apex of one gable is a smooth stone bearing the inscription "A.H. 1788". This giving the initials of the owner & the date of erection. The house was still standing in the summer of 1939 when I visited it & was as staunch as ever.

(Mrs. Krull saw this stone, saved from the house, Dec. 1936 on the original ground.)

The family of Abraham & Ann Jamieson Hendricks consisted of nine children, six sons & three daughters.

THE HINKLE FAMILY.

HINKLE.

Hinkle's Fort in Pendleton County, West Virginia.

By Mrs. Elsie Byrd Boggs, Nat'l No. 162,451.

Franklin, Pendleton Co. West Virginia.

John Justus Hinkle, Sr., founder & builder of Hinkle's Fort, was the pioneer settler of the Hinkle Clan in Pendleton Co. which has since spread both far & near over many counties.

He was born February 10, 1706 in Germany & came to America in 1717 with his parents, Rev. Anthony Jacob & Maria Elizabeth Hinkle, who with their seven children settled in what is now Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, where John Justus grew to manhood.

Later we find him married & still residing in Pennsylvania but by & by continued wars in Germany caused such a heavy immigration from that country to Pennsylvania that the value of land grew so enormously high he decided to seek a home where prices & keen interest in the Southern Country had been aroused by very liberal offers. The Indian Trails along the Potomac River & its tributaries were then the routes to the South & many of the families from Pennsylvania migrated over them.

By 1760 John Justus Hinkle had sold his property in Pennsylvania & with his family journeyed to North Carolina where he settled in what is now Davidson County. He prospered in the new location until the "Wild Men", as he called the Indians, broke out, & because of their terrible depredations in the South, he again moved with his family, in 1765 to Germany Valley, then frontier of West Augusta, which later became Rockingham Co. Va. & today is Pendleton Co. West Virginia. John Justus was now a man of mature years, with a family of twelve children, the youngest being Isaac, a lad of five or six years.

The writer was told by her great grandfather, Mary Hamner, who was Isaac's grand daughter, that she remembered him well, & of hearing him say that the first time he ever saw Mary Cunningham, who later became his wife, was when she came to school wearing a short gown & petticoat, then quite the style, so we learn that Justus Hinkle provided not only Christian education but a school for his own & for the neighbor's children as well. Some of his children were married before leaving North Carolina, & they all returned with him, bringing their families.

George Teter, with a family came from Germany to Pennsylvania with the Hinkles, then migrated with the family of Justus Hinkle to North Carolina, where Teter left his family while he returned to Germany on business. As he never returned & was never heard from, it was supposed that he was lost at sea. As the Hinkles had promised to care for his family until his return, they brought them with their own family to their new place of abode. They found the Harpers, Gunninghams & other families already settled in the nearby regions, who were to become their neighbors, & whose descendants were to mingle with their own to people the vast part of the country down through the ages.

There were seven marriages alone between the Hinkles & Teters, which prove the congeniality of the two pioneer families. As they found most of their neighbors to be German, we may well imagine the satisfaction they found in conversing with them in their native tongue, & although they had fled from their country they proved their spirit of filial devotion by naming their newly acquired community "Germany Valley" which name it still bears.

The Indian Trail from Philadelphia to Tennessee which branched to the Carolinas had trails that connected with the famous Seneca trail, & as this trail passed near the new lands purchased by Justus Hinkle, it was necessary for him to erect a "Strong House" which was later called a "Block House" & still later known as "Hinkle's Fort" in which his family & neighbors could take refuge from Indian depredations. Only a short time before the Indians had moved from this section to live in the "Ohio Country". They had a large village at the Mouth of Seneca which was not far distant, & here they left a mound some six feet high & 12 feet broad at the top where it was supposed their dead were buried. For a period of years they, sometimes in large bands, continued to travel the Seneca Trail & on their return, they always demanded food when coming to the home of the white settlers. At first they were friendly, but as more of the land was taken up by the new people, they became embittered & finally got so dangerous that frontier communities were compelled to live in the shadow of the stockade, & to use watchful care lest at any time they might steal upon them & kill or carry them into captivity; & we have record of two young girls from this community having been carried away but later escaped & made their way back.

The Hinkle fortification had a stockade of the usual size which was circular with a diameter of about 60 yards, within which stood the two story block house, some 60 feet square & fitted with loop holes. This was the city of refuge to the various families. The Hinkle fort did not suffer the cruel destiny of Fort Upper Tract or Fort Roybert, both of which met cruel destruction & murder only two or three years previous to the erection of Hinkle's Fort.

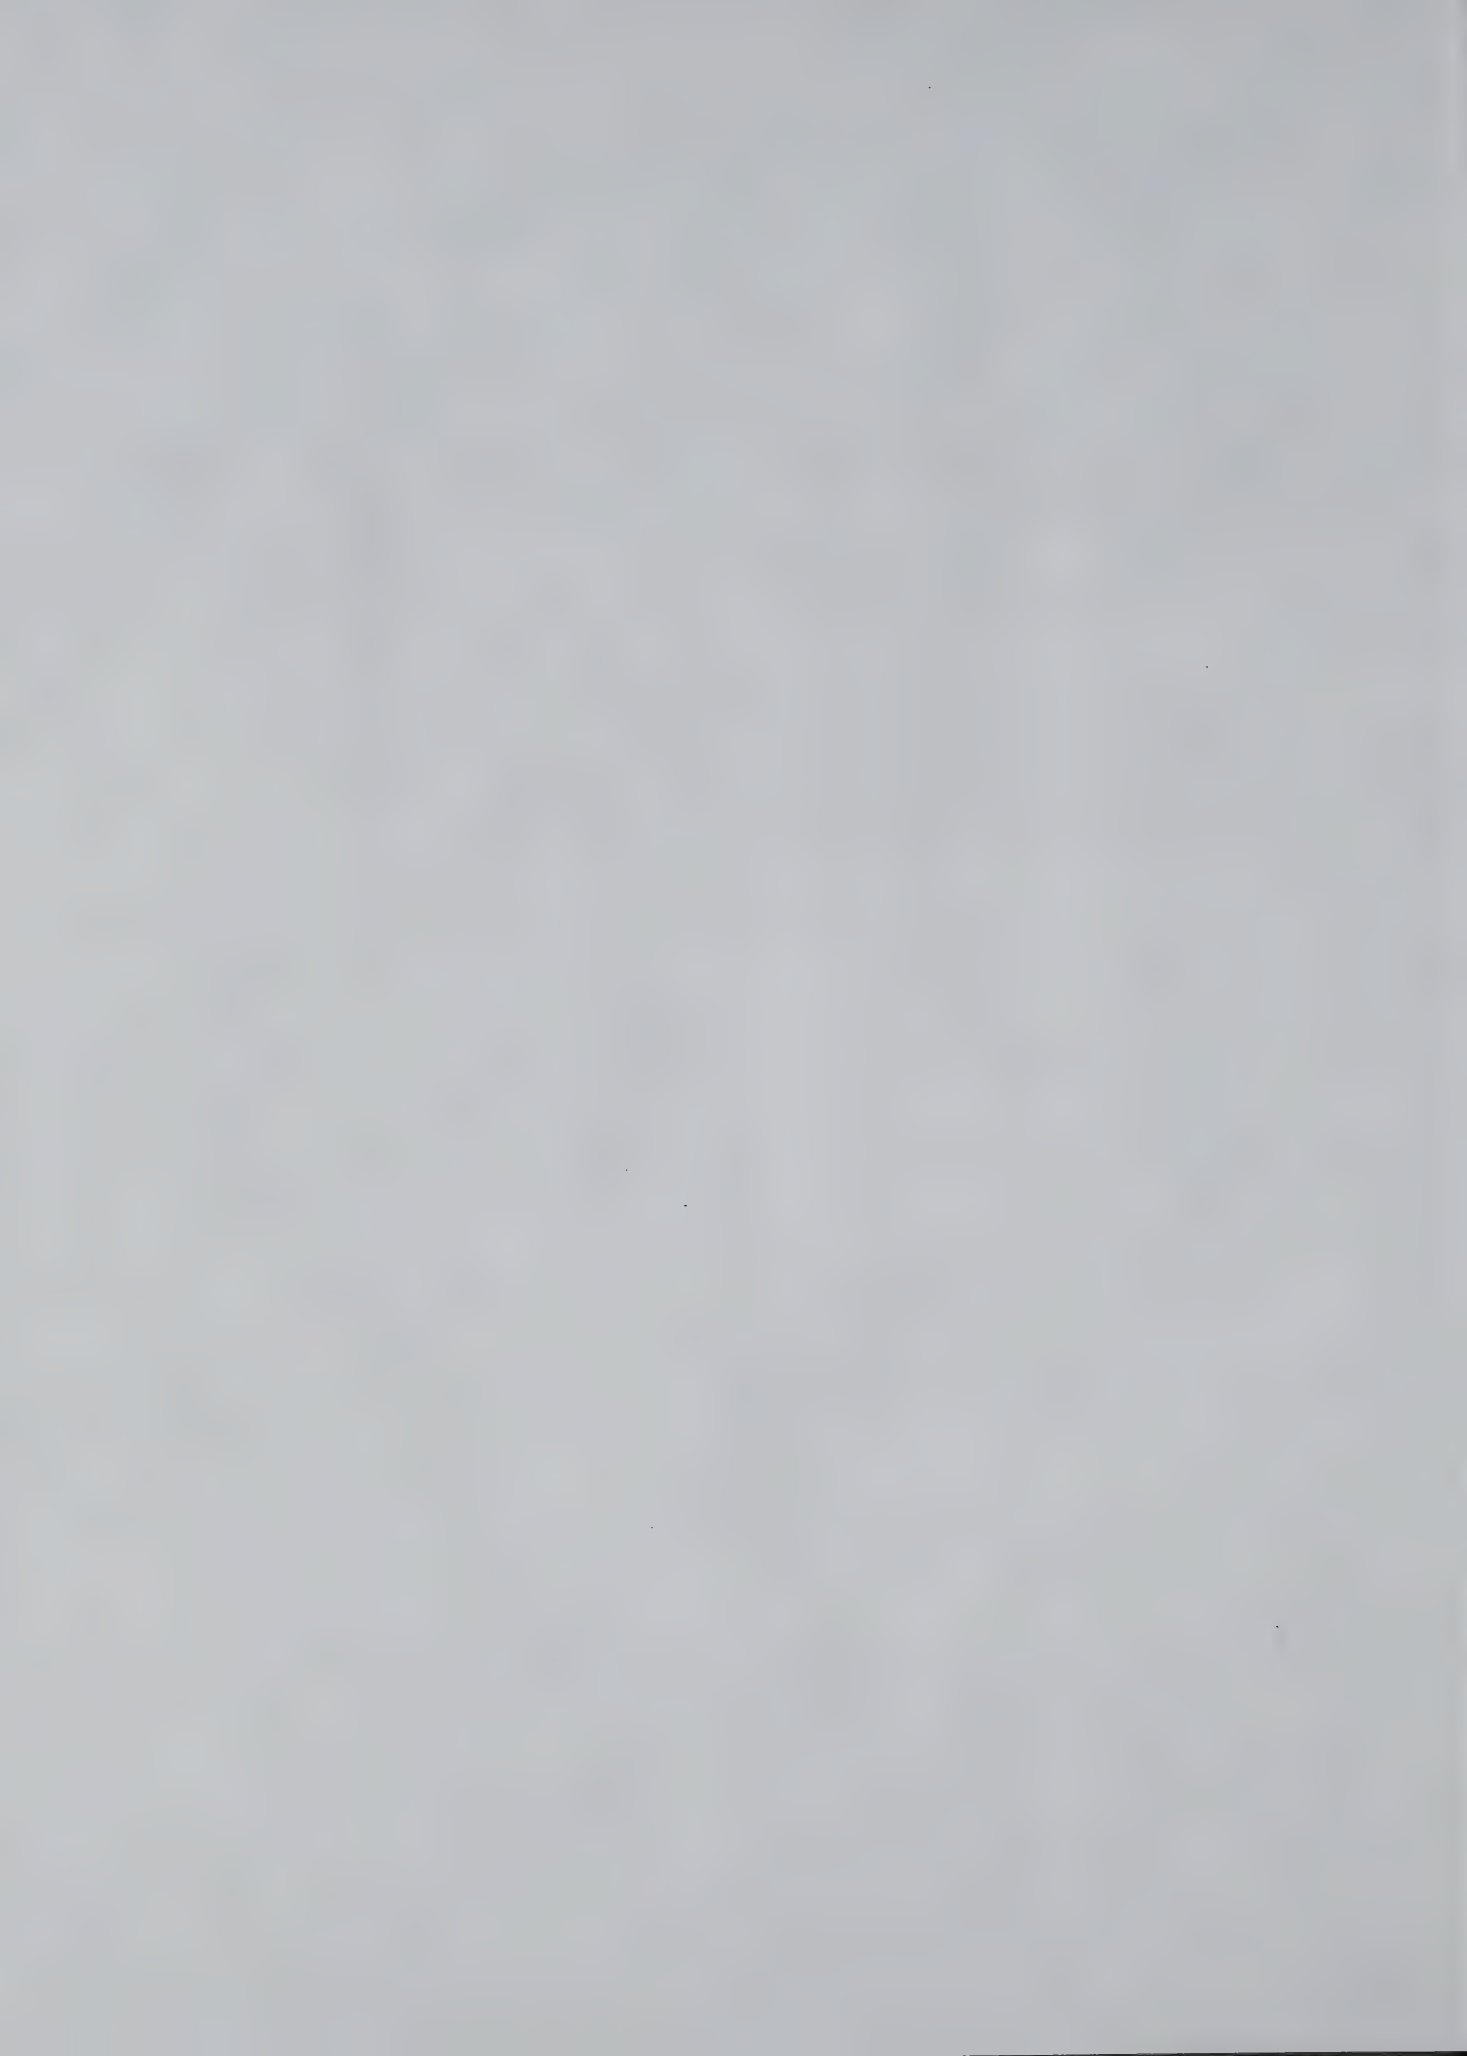

As Hinkle's Fort had a large training field adjoining, it later became quarters & training grounds of the First Penna. Battalion of the Virginia Militia of the Revolution, & although Justus Hinkle, Sr. was a man of seventy years of age at the beginning of the Revolution he continued to hold command of the Fort & to furnish quarters & supplies to the soldiers as long as he lived, which was only about two years, his death taking place in 1778, after which his son, Abraham, succeeded to the command of the Fort, & carried on for the remainder of the war.

Two other sons, Isaac & Justus, Jr. & three sons-in-law, John Skidmore, Andrew Johnson & Paul Peter, became Captains of Virginia Militia of the Revolution, & John Skidmore, who later became Major, was noted for his bravery at the battle of Point Pleasant, thus we see that the Hinkles were active in defending the frontier during the Revolution as well as during the earlier depredations from the Indians. They were truly "Stalwart Sons of West Augusta."

The memory of this great pioneer family is highly honored & appreciated & on October 9, 1935, a beautiful marker was erected by some of its descendants to perpetuate in memory its deeds of valor. The seven & one-half foot shaft is of Georgia granite, & made in the shape of an Indian arrow. Its decoration is a replica of a Colonial Block House built of logs & of a colonial flint rifle. The front side of the huge arrow has a smooth surface which bears the following inscription;

"About the years of 1761-1762, John Justus Hinkle, Sr. built a Block House as a home for the family & a protection against the Indians. It became a nucleus for a Colonial Frontier Fort, later used by Continental Forces during the Revolution, and was called Hinkle's Fort."

This is one of the few families that can boast of the perpetuation of its name in a fort of Pre-Revolutionary days & the marker is intended by the Hinkle descendants to be a memorial to their ancestor, John Justus Hinkle, Sr. & his large family, and also to all the brave, adventurous pioneers who carved America out of the wilderness & who faced privations & dangers of the primitive frontier, as well as constant fear of death at the hands of the Indians.

He died September 16, 1848, place not shown.

James Larimore married May 22, 1803, Leanna or Leann Southern or Southorn, date and place of her birth not shown. They were married at the home of Reuben Southern in Stokes Co. N.C. & the marriage bond was dated in said Co. May 22, 1803. No relationship of Reuben Southern to Leanna Southern Larimore was stated. No reference to a former marriage of the soldier was made.

Soldier's widow, Leanna, was allowed pension on her application executed Sept. 23, 1830, while residing in Forsyth Co. N.C. and aged 56 years.

April 27, 1833, Leanna Larimore applied for the bounty land which was due on account of the service of her husband, James Larimore, in the Revolutionary War. He was then residing in Stokes Co. N.C. The bounty granted 100 acres of land on Sept. 23, 1832, under act of March 3, 1830.

Genealogy of the Gregory Family;

About 1836 or 1837 a family by the name of Larimore came to our village & built a tavern which was said to be the best & most commodious house between Indianapolis & Logansport. Mr. Henry Nicholas of Northfield, was the contracting carpenter. It was a frame building two stories high & had a cupola & ball on top.

The first Christian church met on the second floor of the Larimore tavern till money was raised to build a church.

Boone County, Indiana by Hender & Spahr; pg. 416;

Then we come to the Eagle Village Hotel, kept many years by Polly Larimore. I think her husband, Daniel Larimore, started it in 1834. He dying, she kept on till about the year 1848, when it was kept by George Kraft, Joseph Larimore, her son, & others, always keeping its good record, till finally it went down about 1855. Its bar room was large, with a fireplace & around the crackling fire, many were the good tables set in its ample dining room; some have eaten at it, who afterwards became prominent, such as Schuyler Colfax, D.D. Pratt, C.W. Fitch, Jesse A. Bright, John Letitt, all in the U.S. Senate, & others.

The stage line from Indianapolis to Logansport ran daily & mostly with 4 horses, and they were all needed for the roads during the winter were terrible. It was on this road the story originated about the passengers walking carrying rails to pry the stage out of the mud holes. They changed horses at Eagle Village & passengers ate dinner there.

Through an error the record of Capt. Daniel McClelland of Kentucky was mixed up with a record of a Daniel McClelland of Jeff. Co. Indiana. The following record is sent in to correct the mistake.

This information was sent in by Dr. Walter O. Shriner of Terre Haute; A sketch from the widow of James Harvey McClelland, grandson of Daniel McClelland, Sr. of Jeff. Co. Ind. Mrs. McClelland now lives in Seattle, Washington. After the war, the son, Paul McClelland, plans to publish the family history with dates, etc.

This account is simply for the purpose of the Revolutionary record.

John McClelland, father of Daniel McClelland, served in the Revolution under General Ross. He fought up & down the Hudson & into Virginia. In Virginia, relatives were losing grain, stock, etc. by confiscation. They loaded up their belongings into wagons & started for Western Virginia (Augusta Co. near Staunton.)

In 1800 John McClelland, Revolutionary soldier, moved from Virginia to Batavia in Clermont Co. Ohio. In 1815, his son, Daniel settled in Batavia. Daniel was born Feb. 6, 1767; married Nancy Ann Beasley in Augusta Co. Virginia; & he died Oct. 18, 1847. Late in life, Daniel McClelland removed to Vernon, Jennings Co. Ind. with his three youngest sons; Daniel, Jr; Joseph & James. Since they bought land in Jefferson Co. as well, they must have settled near the border between Madison & Vernon. Daniel McClelland & Nancy had 10 children;

Thomas McClelland m Nathilda Morin.

George T. McClelland m Maria Lowe Hays.

Eliza McClelland m 3 times; 1st. Cyrus Pearson; 2d George Ramsey; 3d James Coombs. Lived in Ohio.

Capt. Daniel McClelland was born in Twp. of Eastpennsborough, Cumberland Co. Pa. in 1753; the 2d son of John & Catherine McClelland. Michael Paul, the head of our family in the United States, was born in Holland. The time and place of his birth are not known, as the record of his own family has been lost, and no history previous to his appearance at Germantown, Pennsylvania.

The time of Michael Paul's immigration to this country & whether he came alone, or with any of his father's family, is unknown. He had several brothers in this country, who were settled in or about Germantown. The names of these brothers were unknown to my mother.

Michael Paul settled in Germantown, Pa. & was married at that place to Miss Ann Parker about 1761. She was born 1741. He remained in Germantown until 1767 or 1768, when he went to a place in Pennsylvania on the Susquehanna river, & died at that time. He left no wife & no children in the town of Germantown, Pa. How long he remained there I do not know, but probably 15 years.

It is possible that Michael Paul was commander of the fort while residing there, as in his "History of early times in Pennsylvania" says that Captain Paul was in command of this fort, although his date of the affairs differ a few years from the dates of this time & is not positive as to date--but puts it a little earlier

Michael Paul went from Redstone Old Fort into Virginia--now West Virginia, & from there he moved to Kentucky in 1781 & settled in Harlan County--not far from Elizabethtown, where he resided until his death in 1801 or 1802. I have no means of knowing his religious belief. Ann Parker was born in Germantown, Pa. in the year 1784. She belonged to the order of Juniors. She died in June 1813--aged 29 years. She was a cousin of one Rev. Samuel Davis, D.D., a noted Presbyterian divine of that day--who was the successor of Jonathan Edwards as president of Princeton Theological Seminary.

Michael & Ann Parker Paul had seven children;

Rachel Born at Germantown, Pa. date unknown. Died in Harlan Co. Ky. in 1814.

She was married to Mr. French. They had two children, Paul & Elizabeth. Mr. French died in Ky. & Rachel married a Mr. Stoner. Paul French went to Illinois & Elizabeth married a Mr. Porter & moved to Alabama. All trace of her & her brother, Paul French, have been lost.

Isaac Born at Germantown, Pa.--date unknown. He came to Ky. with his father in 1781, where he died in early manhood. He was married to Eunice Cooper, a native of New Jersey. They had two children, John & a daughter who died in infancy. John came to Madison & settled on a farm. He died in Madison, Ind. in 1870.

Maria Born at Germantown--died in the 13th year of her age--at Germantown

John Our grandfather--was born in Germantown, Pa. Nov. 12, 1783. He went with his father to Redstone Old Fort, Pa. & from there to Virginia & afterwards to Kentucky in 1791. He married Sarah Thornberry Groves at Danville, Ky. in 1793. He left Kentucky in the fall of 1803 & went to Green County, Ohio, where he lived in or near Xenia until 1807, when he moved to Madison, Indiana--living there Oct. 3, 1808. He resided in Madison until his death, which occurred June 26, 1809. He was with General George Rogers Clark in his expedition against the British & Indians in 1778.
